CANADIAN BOARD OF EXAMINERS FOR PROFESSIONAL SURVEYORS

C8 – CADASTRAL STUDIES

Note: This examination consists of 10 questions on 1 page.

March 2021

Marks

Provide your understanding of the following Cadastral Studies concepts: a) Survey Monument b) Fee Simple c) Duty of Care d) Innocent Passage e) Subdivision f) Indefeasibility of Title g) Fee Simple h) Accretion i) Maritime Zones j) Cadastral Studies Tenancy in Common and Joint Tenancy are two interests that are held by more than one owner. Explain the differences between them. Define what a "Survey System" is and explain the purpose of a survey system. Choose one survey system in Canada that you are familiar with and briefly describe it. Explain the differences between a registration of title system and a registration of deeds system. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. Discuss the merits of having parcel descriptions refer to a registered plan as opposed to using a metes and bounds description. The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?	11010.	This examination consists of 10 questions on 1 page.	1VI a	IND
a) Survey Monument b) Fee Simple c) Duty of Care d) Innocent Passage e) Subdivision f) Indefeasibility of Title g) Fee Simple h) Accretion i) Maritime Zones j) Cadastral Studies 2. Tenancy in Common and Joint Tenancy are two interests that are held by more than one owner. Explain the differences between them. Define what a "Survey System" is and explain the purpose of a survey system. Choose one survey system in Canada that you are familiar with and briefly describe it. Explain the differences between a registration of title system and a registration of deeds system. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. The Doctrine of Conventional Lines and Bornage are two methods of resolving boundary uncertainties. Explain the process of each and show the differences between them. Discuss the merits of having parcel descriptions refer to a registered plan as opposed to using a metes and bounds description. The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?	Q. No	Time: 3 hours	Value	Earned
b) Fee Simple c) Duty of Care d) Innocent Passage e) Subdivision f) Indefeasibility of Title g) Fee Simple h) Accretion i) Maritime Zones j) Cadastral Studies Tenancy in Common and Joint Tenancy are two interests that are held by more than one owner. Explain the differences between them. Define what a "Survey System" is and explain the purpose of a survey system. Choose one survey system in Canada that you are familiar with and briefly describe it. Explain the differences between a registration of title system and a registration of deeds system. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. The Doctrine of Conventional Lines and Bornage are two methods of resolving boundary uncertainties. Explain the process of each and show the differences between them. Discuss the merits of having parcel descriptions refer to a registered plan as opposed to using a metes and bounds description. The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?	1.	Provide your understanding of the following Cadastral Studies concepts:
e) Duty of Care d) Innocent Passage e) Subdivision 1. Indefeasibility of Title g) Fee Simple h) Accretion i) Maritime Zones j) Cadastral Studies 2. Tenancy in Common and Joint Tenancy are two interests that are held by more than one owner. Explain the differences between them. Define what a "Survey System" is and explain the purpose of a survey system. Choose one survey system in Canada that you are familiar with and briefly describe it. Explain the differences between a registration of title system and a registration of deeds system. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. The Doctrine of Conventional Lines and Bornage are two methods of resolving boundary uncertainties. Explain the process of each and show the differences between them. Discuss the merits of having parcel descriptions refer to a registered plan as opposed to using a metes and bounds description. The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?		a) Survey Monument
d) Innocent Passage e) Subdivision f) Indefeasibility of Title g) Fee Simple h) Accretion i) Maritime Zones j) Cadastral Studies 2. Tenancy in Common and Joint Tenancy are two interests that are held by more than one owner. Explain the differences between them. 3. Define what a "Survey System" is and explain the purpose of a survey system. Choose one survey system in Canada that you are familiar with and briefly describe it. 5. Explain the differences between a registration of title system and a registration of deeds system. 5. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. 6. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. 7. Discuss the merits of having parcel descriptions refer to a registered plan as opposed to using a metes and bounds description. The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?		b) Fee Simple
1. c) Subdivision f) Indefeasibility of Title g) Fee Simple h) Accretion i) Maritime Zones j) Cadastral Studies 2. Tenancy in Common and Joint Tenancy are two interests that are held by more than one owner. Explain the differences between them. 3. Choose one survey system in Canada that you are familiar with and briefly describe it. 5. Explain the differences between a registration of title system and a registration of deeds system. 5. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. 6. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. 7. Discuss the merits of having parcel descriptions refer to a registered plan as opposed to using a metes and bounds description. The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?		c) Duty of Care
1. 1) Indefeasibility of Title g) Fee Simple h) Accretion i) Maritime Zones j) Cadastral Studies 2. Tenancy in Common and Joint Tenancy are two interests that are held by more than one owner. Explain the differences between them. 3. Choose one survey system in Canada that you are familiar with and briefly describe it. 4. Explain the differences between a registration of title system and a registration of deeds system. 5. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. 6. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. 7. Discuss the merits of having parcel descriptions refer to a registered plan as opposed to using a metes and bounds description. The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?		d) Innocent Passage
f) Indefeasibility of Title g) Fee Simple h) Accretion i) Maritime Zones j) Cadastral Studies 2. Tenancy in Common and Joint Tenancy are two interests that are held by more than one owner. Explain the differences between them. 10 Define what a "Survey System" is and explain the purpose of a survey system. Choose one survey system in Canada that you are familiar with and briefly describe it. 5 Explain the differences between a registration of title system and a registration of deeds system. 10 Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. 5. The Doctrine of Conventional Lines and Bornage are two methods of resolving boundary uncertainties. Explain the process of each and show the differences between them. 7. Discuss the merits of having parcel descriptions refer to a registered plan as opposed to using a metes and bounds description. 10 The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. 10 Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?		e) Subdivision	10
h) Accretion i) Maritime Zones j) Cadastral Studies 2. Tenancy in Common and Joint Tenancy are two interests that are held by more than one owner. Explain the differences between them. Define what a "Survey System" is and explain the purpose of a survey system. Choose one survey system in Canada that you are familiar with and briefly describe it. Explain the differences between a registration of title system and a registration of deeds system. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. The Doctrine of Conventional Lines and Bornage are two methods of resolving boundary uncertainties. Explain the process of each and show the differences between them. Discuss the merits of having parcel descriptions refer to a registered plan as opposed to using a metes and bounds description. The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?		f) Indefeasibility of Title
i) Maritime Zones j) Cadastral Studies 2. Tenancy in Common and Joint Tenancy are two interests that are held by more than one owner. Explain the differences between them. 10 Define what a "Survey System" is and explain the purpose of a survey system. Choose one survey system in Canada that you are familiar with and briefly describe it. 5 Explain the differences between a registration of title system and a registration of deeds system. 10 Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. 5. The Doctrine of Conventional Lines and Bornage are two methods of resolving boundary uncertainties. Explain the process of each and show the differences between them. 7. Discuss the merits of having parcel descriptions refer to a registered plan as opposed to using a metes and bounds description. 10 Distinguish between them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and briefly describe five of them. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?		g) Fee Simple
2. Tenancy in Common and Joint Tenancy are two interests that are held by more than one owner. Explain the differences between them. Define what a "Survey System" is and explain the purpose of a survey system. Choose one survey system in Canada that you are familiar with and briefly describe it. Explain the differences between a registration of title system and a registration of deeds system. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. The Doctrine of Conventional Lines and Bornage are two methods of resolving boundary uncertainties. Explain the process of each and show the differences between them. Discuss the merits of having parcel descriptions refer to a registered plan as opposed to using a metes and bounds description. The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?		h) Accretion
2. Tenancy in Common and Joint Tenancy are two interests that are held by more than one owner. Explain the differences between them. Define what a "Survey System" is and explain the purpose of a survey system. Choose one survey system in Canada that you are familiar with and briefly describe it. Explain the differences between a registration of title system and a registration of deeds system. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. The Doctrine of Conventional Lines and Bornage are two methods of resolving boundary uncertainties. Explain the process of each and show the differences between them. Discuss the merits of having parcel descriptions refer to a registered plan as opposed to using a metes and bounds description. The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?		i) Maritime Zones
2. than one owner. Explain the differences between them. Define what a "Survey System" is and explain the purpose of a survey system. Choose one survey system in Canada that you are familiar with and briefly describe it. Explain the differences between a registration of title system and a registration of deeds system. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. The Doctrine of Conventional Lines and Bornage are two methods of resolving boundary uncertainties. Explain the process of each and show the differences between them. Discuss the merits of having parcel descriptions refer to a registered plan as opposed to using a metes and bounds description. The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?		j) Cadastral Studies
2. than one owner. Explain the differences between them. Define what a "Survey System" is and explain the purpose of a survey system. Choose one survey system in Canada that you are familiar with and briefly describe it. Explain the differences between a registration of title system and a registration of deeds system. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. The Doctrine of Conventional Lines and Bornage are two methods of resolving boundary uncertainties. Explain the process of each and show the differences between them. Discuss the merits of having parcel descriptions refer to a registered plan as opposed to using a metes and bounds description. The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?		Tenancy in Common and Joint Tenancy are two interests that are held by more	10
Choose one survey system in Canada that you are familiar with and briefly describe it. Explain the differences between a registration of title system and a registration of deeds system. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. The Doctrine of Conventional Lines and Bornage are two methods of resolving boundary uncertainties. Explain the process of each and show the differences between them. Discuss the merits of having parcel descriptions refer to a registered plan as opposed to using a metes and bounds description. The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?	2.	l	10
Choose one survey system in Canada that you are familiar with and briefly describe it. Explain the differences between a registration of title system and a registration of deeds system. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. The Doctrine of Conventional Lines and Bornage are two methods of resolving boundary uncertainties. Explain the process of each and show the differences between them. Discuss the merits of having parcel descriptions refer to a registered plan as opposed to using a metes and bounds description. The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?	3.	Define what a "Survey System" is and explain the purpose of a survey system	_ describe it. Explain the differences between a registration of title system and a registration of deeds system. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. The Doctrine of Conventional Lines and Bornage are two methods of resolving boundary uncertainties. Explain the process of each and show the differences between them. Discuss the merits of having parcel descriptions refer to a registered plan as opposed to using a metes and bounds description. The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?			5
4. deeds system. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. The Doctrine of Conventional Lines and Bornage are two methods of resolving boundary uncertainties. Explain the process of each and show the differences between them. Discuss the merits of having parcel descriptions refer to a registered plan as opposed to using a metes and bounds description. The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?		l	5
4. deeds system. Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. The Doctrine of Conventional Lines and Bornage are two methods of resolving boundary uncertainties. Explain the process of each and show the differences between them. Discuss the merits of having parcel descriptions refer to a registered plan as opposed to using a metes and bounds description. The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?
Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them. The Doctrine of Conventional Lines and Bornage are two methods of resolving boundary uncertainties. Explain the process of each and show the differences between them. Discuss the merits of having parcel descriptions refer to a registered plan as opposed to using a metes and bounds description. The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?			10
The Doctrine of Conventional Lines and Bornage are two methods of resolving boundary uncertainties. Explain the process of each and show the differences between them. Discuss the merits of having parcel descriptions refer to a registered plan as opposed to using a metes and bounds description. The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?	4.	deeds system.
The Doctrine of Conventional Lines and Bornage are two methods of resolving boundary uncertainties. Explain the process of each and show the differences between them. Discuss the merits of having parcel descriptions refer to a registered plan as opposed to using a metes and bounds description. The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?	_	Define "Easement" and "Right-of-Way" and discuss the differences between them.	10
6. boundary uncertainties. Explain the process of each and show the differences between them. 7. Discuss the merits of having parcel descriptions refer to a registered plan as opposed to using a metes and bounds description. 10 The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?	5.
6. bothdary the trainites. Explain the process of each and show the differences between them. 7. Discuss the merits of having parcel descriptions refer to a registered plan as opposed to using a metes and bounds description. 10 The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?			10
Discuss the merits of having parcel descriptions refer to a registered plan as opposed to using a metes and bounds description. The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?	6.		10
7. opposed to using a metes and bounds description. The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?
The FIG Statement on the Cadastre outlines six important roles that land surveyors are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?			10
8. are responsible for in a Land Information System (LIS) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?	/.	opposed to using a metes and bounds description.
8. date responsible for in a Land information system (Lis) environment. Name and briefly describe five of them. 9. Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. 10. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?		· • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • •	10
Distinguish between Aboriginal title and other Aboriginal rights related to land and land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?	8.		10
9. land use. Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?
Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?			10
this mean to land surveyors and what are your responsibilities as a land surveyor to the public?	9.	land use.
the public?		Land Surveying is said to be carried out in the public's best interest. What does	10
the public?	10.		10
Total Marks: 100		the public?
Total Marks. 100		Total Marks:	100	